PROSPERITY WILL CONTINUE, SAYS ELECTRICAL HEAD

Frank A. Ketcham, President of Graybar Company, Sees Business Increase

SEE MANY INDICATIONS

Just Back from Trip of Major Cities and All Indicate Prosperity

Following is another article on the fall business outlook by W. S. Cousins, International News Service Financial Editor. These articles are based on exclusive interviews with financial and business leaders of the country.

By W. S. Cousins
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Within the next few days the world will be celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the incandescent lamp—in short, the anniversary of the real founding of the electrical industry. In these fifty years the electrical industry has developed into one of the four major barometers by which to judge general business conditions and prosperity.

With this as a basis, Frank A. Ketcham, president of Graybar Electrical Company, distributors of electrical merchandise all over the world, was asked today to summarize and comment on the prospects of the electrical industry during the balance of the current year.

"Any increase in the business of a national distributing organization, such as that of our company, with its thousands of diversified products that go into every type of home, and into every line of business, Mr. Ketcham replied, 'is a definite indication, not only of prosperity in the electrical field, but of general prosperity as well. For that reason, I can conservatively say that our present highly satisfactory volume of business, together with that reported by other major electrical manufacturing and sales units is a result of similar expansion of business and industry throughout the country.'

That this prosperity will continue is Mr. Ketcham's confident prediction, based upon a thorough and systematic survey of current conditions.

"There are many indications," said Mr. Ketcham, "that this present prosperity will continue. I have just returned from a business trip to the Graybar offices, located in major metropolitan centers throughout the west and south. In every instance, managers reported a general increase in business that varied but little from the general volume increase we have noted here at the New York executive headquarters.

"These reports are proof positive to me, based upon over twenty-five years' association with the industry, that the American home in all sections of the country is enjoying and will continue to enjoy, the greatest period of prosperity. The American householder, apparently is demanding and is buying more electrical appliances for the household than ever before. In the same way, the American business man is demanding increasing quantities of electrical equipment for his multiplying needs."

Mr. Ketcham points out the increased buying power of the average American, with his greater acceptance of home comforts, has brought about an interesting increase of individual demand for many electrically-operated appliances.

"Electrical irons, washers, vacuum cleaners, and other useful appliances are utilitarian aids that every home can now afford," Mr. Ketcham declared. "Radios, sunshine lamps, stimulators, exercise machines, etc., are added home appliances which the prosperous American is including among his necessities.

"Business also turns to electric appliances in its constant search for greater efficiency in production and operation. New improvements are eagerly sought, and electricity is helping man-power to ever-increasing volumes."

The Post accepted an invitation to participate in Armistice Day celebration to be held at Burlington, N. J., on November 9th and at Conshohocken, November 11th.

On the evening of October 29th 75 members of the Bracken Post will attend a testimonial dinner which is to be given National Vice-Commander Schobie in the Norristown Armory, Norristown. The Bristol group will go in buses.

BENSALEM STUDENTS FORM STUDENT COUNCIL

Organization is Perfected at Meeting Held Monday at Cornwells Heights

OTHER SCHOOL NEWS

BENSALEM TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL, Cornwells Heights, Oct. 16.

—Student Council was organized here on Monday, when the students assembled in meeting and organized for the year.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Horace States; vice-president, Mae Haldeman; secretary, Axel Kleinsorg; treasurer, William Frantz.

Miss Cecilia Snyder has been chosen as faculty advisor to the Council.

The first issue of the "Bensalemite" for the term will be in the hands of the students at the end of this week.

Free copies are given to each student in the junior and senior high schools, as well as to the advertiser.

The initial copy for the term contains much of interest to the pupils of the schools as well as to residents of the Bensalem section.

Approximately 60 boys and girls are now affiliated with the high school band, and work is progressing in splendid manner. Rehearsals are held once each week.

Miss Helen Gee, of Lansdowne, has been appointed as teacher of the fourth grade at the Trevose school. Miss Gee is a graduate of the West Chester State Teachers College.

Six high schools were represented at the meeting of the Bucks County High School Press Association held here recently, with about 80 scholars in attendance.

At the morning session Charles Troxell, of the Frankford high school, spoke. Following lunch an informal period of discussion of problems relative to school papers took place. The delegates were divided into groups, with a leader for each. Mr. Troxell had charge of the session composed of the faculty members; with Samuel K. Faust, supervising principal leading the business managers; Miss Gertrude Turner, reporters; and Miss Jane Kohler, a member of the local faculty, in charge of the editors.

Miss Turner, who is a resident of Abington, told of the value of high school publications during the course of the afternoon meeting. Miss Frances Simons, of the Bensalem Class of '31, gave two vocal solos. During the open forum period questions were asked of Mr. Troxell and Miss Turner relative to publishing of school papers.

During the lunch hour the visitors enjoyed trips through the new portion of the school building.

A decision was made at the sessions to send to each high school notice of the next meeting to be held in Bristol high school during February. Each school will be asked to appoint a faculty advisor, and a student representative to attend another meeting to be held in the near future when decisions will be made regarding the program for the meeting to take place in Bristol during February.

WINS PRIZE

At the county fair, recently held at Cornwells Heights, St. Francis Industrial School of Eddington, exhibited corn and potatoes and won first prize. Mr. John Killian, also of Eddington, is farmer at the Industrial School property.

ILL

Mr. Jack Gavegan, who has been ill at his home on Buckley and Beaver streets, for the past several weeks, is able to be out and around again.

CONFINED TO HER HOME

Mrs. Louis Dries, of Pond and Market streets, is confined to her home, suffering with a heavy cold.

Park Avenue Turned Into Cow Path As Ohio Woman Milks "Bossie"

Mrs. Irving Bastian Milks Cow in Park Avenue

A $15,000 cow standing in the middle of Park Avenue at Thirty-sixth Street, was milked by an Ohio farmer's wife.

Neither the cow nor the farmer's wife, Mrs. Irving Bastian, of Clyde, Ohio, seemed to think the affair was any great shakes. But to the several hundred New Yorkers gathered around, who had an idea milk came in cans, it was an interesting exhibition of the ways of nature.

The cow's name is Successor Sultane. The blue blood of the Isle of Jersey courses in her veins. She arrived in the metropolis from Mt. Kisco by truck.

She wore around her neck what is believed to be the oldest cowbell in Ohio, brought to New York especially by Mrs. Bastian for the Fall dinner of the Ohio Society at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Once or twice, as Successor turned her placid eyes toward the gaping throng, she emitted a mild and pleasant moo. When no one returned her greeting, she bent her head and tried out the stubby grass of the Park Avenue mall.

She even consented once to moo for the talking newsreel boys.

Mrs. Bastian did not wear what is popularly supposed to be the correct milking costume. She had on a blue ensemble. All she did was remove her coat and gloves, sit on an overturned pail and start to work.

TO PRESENT COLORFUL MUSICAL COMEDY HERE

"Up In The Air" is Title of Show to Be Given for St. James's S. S.

SAM'L SHIRE DIRECTOR

"Up in the Air" is the title of the colorful musical comedy which will be staged on November 7th and 8th for the benefit of St. James's Sunday School, here.

The musical comedy now in the course of rehearsals by local talent, contains splendid comedy material, giving many mirth-provoking moments that will make one forget worry and care. The piece is so splendidly woven together, with big dramatic moments also, that it will interest all.

Samuel Shire is directing the production, and there have been many plays in the past directed by Mr. Shire that the public has eagerly patronized. This presentation will be of the same high character.

The story is as follows:

George Burbank, impersonated by John Burtonwood, is a big business man, who tolerates no one but a "young fellow of brawn and daring" as suitor for the hand of his daughter, "Betty," portrayed by Mrs. Edith Burtonwood. "Betty" has already been wooed, much to the annoyance of her father, by a young man of just the opposite type, known as Harold Post, the part taken by Marvin McEuen. Mr. Burbank's friend, McCullom (Gilbert Lovett), is a movie magnate and he proposes to stage a spectacular flying stunt, through a young aviator, Joe Bennett, who has applied for a job in the movies, and offers a prize to any amateur who will make a parachute jump. Edward Mariner takes the part of Joe Bennett.

Leslie Strumfels, representing Jim Carter, Harold's busybody friend, seizes this as the young man's opportunity to make good, and devises various alibis which will prevent his actually going up, while gaining the credit for bravery. Finally he is forced to go through with it in spite of himself, and by a comic stunt, manages to maintain a reputation as a daredevil, to join the enthusiastic approval of Mr. Burbank and to win the girl of his choice.

Shirley Ringston, a friend of Betty, is taken by a capable amateur actress, Miss Helen Taylor. The twin sisters of Betty Burbank will be acted by Misses Helen and Winifred McVaine. Winifred will sing "Up in the Air." Miss Mildred Mershon takes the part of Mrs. McCullom and her part will be found very amusing and entertaining.

Mrs. Burbank, the wife of George S. Burbank, is Doris Wilkinson, who needs no introduction to the Bristol play-goers as she performed well in "Purple Towers," the last musical comedy, sponsored by the Harriman Men's Club. At that time she played the part of a maid and appeared in one of the choruses.

Last but not least is Juniper Johnson, a colored man-of-all-work. Leslie Moss portrays this character and he is a new actor in Mr. Shire's shows.

"PEP" MEETING TO BE HELD BY STUDENT BODY

Urge Students and Public To Attend So As To Enthuse For Friday's Game

EXPECT BIGGEST CROWD

The student body of the Bristol High School will hold a "pep" meeting tomorrow evening for the purpose of encouraging the football team in the game with Doylestown on Friday afternoon. Addresses will be made by Coach Townsend, members of the school board and the faculty of the schools. There will be the usual singing of the school songs and the cheer leaders will be very much in evidence.

The rivalry between the Bristol and Doylestown teams has been intense for several years, and in the contest on Friday, each team will give the best it has. Although the Bristol team in its early games, showed inexperience, Coach Townsend has now brought it up to a high degree of efficiency, and he promises to place a well trained team on the field Friday afternoon.

The members of the student body are selling tickets, and as this is the big game of the series, it is expected that the patronage received from the public will help the Athletic Council to meet the expenses of the football season.

The game will start promptly at 3:45 o'clock at the high school athletic field. The student body will be out in force and undoubtedly this will be the big game of the season.

At the meeting on Thursday evening a large number of the fathers and mothers are expected to be present to give encouragement to the team. The meeting is called for 7:45 in the high school building, and will not be of long duration, so as not to interfere with the fathers and mothers, should they have other engagements on that evening.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SPEAKS AT MEETING OF G. O. P. WOMEN

Tells of Duties of Offices for Which Candidates Are to Be Elected in November

MRS. ANCKER PRESIDES

Business Session is Held in Morning Followed by Luncheon and Afternoon Session

PERKASIE, Oct. 16.—The semi-annual meeting of the Bucks County Council of Republic Women, held in Fraternity Temple, here, yesterday, was attended by ninety.

In her opening remarks Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, of Bristol, president of the organization, referred to Premier MacDonald's visit to the United States as a means of promoting peace and good will.

Business session during the morning hours included reading of minutes of the last meeting by the secretary, Mrs. Joseph Palmer, Langhorne; announcement of afternoon program by Mrs. Horace Reeder; report of treasurer, Mrs. Horace Effrig, Newtown; reports of various committees.

A discussion relative to the convention to be held in Harrisburg in November took place. Mrs. Dunn, of Buckingham, and Mrs. Ancker being appointed as delegates. An article concerning the convention held in May in Reading was read by Mrs. Oscar O. Bean.

Following a lunch enjoyed at 12:30, the program was presented. The assembly sang "America," and a piano duet by Miss E. Hoyer and Miss Ruth Funk was enjoyed.

The address of the afternoon by Arthur Eastburn, district attorney, was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Eastburn told of the candidates for the coming election and explained the duties of each. He referred to Hiram Keller, nominee for judge; John L. High, candidate for prothonotary; Harvey Fitzgerald, candidate for director of the poor; nominee for jury commissioner, Stacy Brown; and himself as a candidate for reelection as district attorney.

A vocal solo was given by Mrs. Paul Gulick; this being followed by an able, interesting and educational address by Mrs. Elizabeth DeGroot, vice-president of the Lehigh Council, and director of the Lehigh County Council.

Mrs. Durham, of Allentown, one of the scheduled speakers, was not able to attend.

A vote of thanks was extended to all participants in the day's program.

Card Party to Be Given By Class of '30 Here

A card party will be given by the class of '30 of the Bristol High School tonight in the Elks' Home at 8:15 o'clock. The committee in charge consists of: Reba Miller, Charlotte Chamberlain, Bertha E. Manuel, Lucy Randolph, Theodore Hanson.

A number of beautiful prizes will be awarded, and an enjoyable evening is in store for all who attend.

Andalusia Baptist Church Secures Stated Pastor

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 16.—Herman Doe, of Holmesburg, is to be the stated pastor of the Andalusia Baptist Church, commencing Sunday, October 20th.

Mr. Doe has delivered messages here before, and he will be eagerly welcomed by the Andalusia folks as their regular pastor.

At present Mr. Doe is pursuing a course of study. For the past several months supply pastors have served this congregation.

HOST OF FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ford, of Cedar and Lafayette streets, entertained a few friends at their home on Saturday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent playing pinocle and favors were given to Albert Taylor, Ethel Taylor and Mr. Rankin. Refreshments were served in the dining room, which was attractively decorated with Hallows' colors.

EVANGELIST HERE

REV. HAROLD ST. CLAIR CARTER who tonight opens evangelistic campaign in the Bristol Methodist Church

REV. CARTER TO ASSIST WITH SPECIAL SERVICES

A Young Man Who Has Had Remarkable Success In Evangelistic Work

THE PUBLIC IS INVITED

Evangelistic services will open this evening in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Cedar and Mulberry streets, with the Rev. Harold St. Clair Carter, Philadelphia Conference evangelist assisting the pastor.

Rev. Carter, although a young man, has shown remarkable success in the evangelistic work. His service is much in demand in the largest churches of the Conference, and in every place he enjoys a large following. He proclaims the message of salvation in a quiet and unsensational manner, breaking into precious souls the Bread of Life even as his Saviour did, and sends his hearers home feeling that it was good for them to have come to the house of the Lord.

Services will be held every evening, except Saturday, at 7:30 o'clock. The public will find a hearty welcome at all services. They are invited to attend and take others.

Charity Card Party Here Was Well Attended

The card party given last evening for charity and held at the home of Mrs. Warren Armstrong, of 310 Jefferson avenue, was a decided success.

The prizes were of a wide selection and included a magazine rack, end table, vegetable bin, candy, leather articles, stationery, many pieces of handwork, as well as various other useful and decorative things worthy of the competition of the players. There were eight tables of "500" and six of pinocle.

The "500" players and their scores were:

Miss Marcella McGinley, 4910; Mrs. William Ennis, 4540; Mrs. Joseph Foster, 3870; Miss Bessie Rafferty, 3530; Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin, 3420; Mrs. E. E. Ratcliffe, 3220; Mrs. Neal Muligan, 3200; Miss Mary A. McFadden, 3110; Mrs. Stacy Cullen, 3010; Mrs. Neal McVaine, 2990; Mrs. M. Roche, 2960; Miss Ella McCole, 2760; Miss M. Gallagher, 2700; Miss M. M. Dougherty, 2580; Miss Catherine Lynn, 2550.

The list of pinocle players and their scores included: W. Baxter, 800; E. H. Middleton, 769; Mrs. F. Pope, 748; Miss Marcella McCole, 738; Miss M. A. Mahan, 729; James Dowdell, 723; Mrs. W. Baxter, 721.

Three non-players' prizes were awarded: Mrs. Hugh McGee, Miss Virginia Gale and Miss Anna Ferry.

The committee in charge of the affair included: Mrs. Warren Armstrong, chairlady, assisted by Mrs. William I. Murphy, Mrs. Owen Shik and Miss Marcella McCole. The ladies wish to thank the public for their participation in the cause and for their generous help.

HUMOROUS SITUATION

By The Stroller

Imagine this one if you can: A very dignified male member of Bristol's population talking with one of the town's attractive matrons with a dead fly sitting upon his bald head and at which the matron was gazing and frantically endeavoring to keep from laughter.

The gentleman in question stood hatless chatting with the matron. Evidently the flies had been bothering him while engaged at his desk and he had dealt one a wicked blow with the aforesaid mentioned casualty.

The matron didn't know whether to gently brush the deceased fly from its slippery resting place; call her friend's attention to it; or just pass on. She decided on the latter course.

W. C. T. U. MARKS 44TH ANNIVERSARY WITH A BANQUET

Bristol Temperance Union Holds Delightful Affair In Travel Club Home

85 WOMEN ATTEND

President of N. J. Branch and Bucks County President Speak

A banquet marking the 44th anniversary of the Bristol Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the initial meeting of the organization in its new quarters, The Travel Club Home, Cedar street, was enjoyed by 85 people last evening.

The affair was attended by a number of individuals who had been affiliated with the organization for approximately 40 years, the group including one charter member; and included in the group at the speakers' table were Mrs. Nina G. Frantz, president of the New Jersey W. C. T. U.; and Mrs. Lucy Harper, president of the Bucks County organization.

The menu served at small tables each accommodating four, consisted of: Fruit cup, pickles, olives, celery, chicken patties, mashed potatoes, asparagus tips, rolls, coffee, ice cream, cake, salted nuts, mints.

Mrs. Harry H. Headley, president of the Bristol union, welcomed the banqueters to the new quarters, adding that she hoped all members would consider it a privilege as well as a duty to participate in all activities of the organization in the months and years to come.

The local president introduced the president of the New Jersey W. C. T. U., Mrs. Frantz, who capably held the interest of all throughout the course of her speech. She told of the background of the W. C. T. U., speaking of Frances Willard's work as an organizer. "Our young people today," stated Mrs. Frantz, "have their feet on higher ground, and it is our privilege to give them a better opportunity."

The New Jersey woman mentioned the work of the women leaders in the national union, remarking upon the specific characteristics which so well fitted them to the work to which they were called.

Speaking of the diversity of the work of the cause she added "We are majoring in prohibition, but when any other organization wishes to major in any other good work, we are ready, willing and able to assist."

Mrs. Frantz expressed the wish for an enlarged scope of educational work for the prohibition cause. "You have your place, and I have mine. If you are not filling your place in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, or I am not filling mine, there is a weak link." * * * "World prohibition is coming much more rapidly than any of us realize," she added, striking a happy and encouraging note for all the listeners. "Society is improving and conditions in the capital are getting better."

In concluding references were made to the days of the saloon and the speaker remarked: "Folks would not be so luke-warm about prohibition if they could for a moment go back to the pre-prohibition days."

Word had been received from Mrs. Violet E. Fahnestock, magistrate of Court No. 6, Philadelphia, one of the speakers scheduled for the evening, stating that she was ill and would not be able to attend.

Greetings were brought to the local women by Mrs. Lucy Harper, president of the Bucks County W. C. T. U. Mrs. Harper congratulated the Bristol group upon the attainment of its 44th milestone, and mentioned that it is known as a banner union.

Mrs. Harper was followed by her daughter, Miss Gladys Harper, county Young People's Branch general secretary, who also extended felicitations.

Attention of the members and friends was called by Miss Martha Hughes to the banner of the organization made in the year 1887 by Mrs. Pray, the piece being hand-painted. The local union was organized on October 25, 1885, and the banner was presented two years after the inception. Many of the women who had years ago joined the organization were asked to rise, and then Miss Hughes, herself president of the Bristol union, for a number of years, took the group back in memory to the early days.

The former president announced that there had been six presidents: Mrs. Joshua Peirce, Mrs. E. J. Groom, Mrs. Wesley Milnor, Miss Catherine B. Cabeen, Miss Hughes; and Mrs. Harry Headley, who was elected last spring.

Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James's Episcopal Church, was called upon, and referred to prohibition as not only a national problem but an international problem. Rev. Boswell congratulated the Bristol union upon its attainments as did also Rev. Andrew George Solia, pastor of the Bristol Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour; and Rev. Paul R. Ronge, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church.

A vocal solo, "Berceuse" from Jocelyn by Mrs. Jennie Halk, of Hulmeville, was much enjoyed, and (Continued on Page Four)

NOT A NEW PEACE CONVERT

No one knowing the principles and character of the man ever regarded seriously the petty and shameful insinuations of the professional custodians of our national honor that Ramsay MacDonald is here to "put something over" on President Hoover that will redound to the everlasting glory and benefit of Great Britain and British imperialism. Such tactics and ambitions are as foreign to the visiting prime minister as "iron diplomacy" to Herbert Hoover.

MacDonald is neither a militarist nor an imperialist. He is not a jingo on a junket. On this score John L. Balderston, London journalist, says of him:

"His 'war record' is seldom mentioned today in England, even by the conservatives. No taunts ever cross the floor of the house from the Tory benches, even in the heat of debate. That this should be true is a great tribute to the man. His fellow countrymen admire courage. They know that he opposed the war because he thought it wrong, and that he never wavered from this attitude or regretted it. They strongly suspect, I think, that there are few politicians, in this or any other country, who would have sacrificed what he sacrificed, endured, for five years, for the sake of a principle."

Throughout the World War MacDonald was an "unspeakable pacifist." He opposed England's entering the conflict and as a member of parliament consistently fought for peace rather than for victory. Only his immunity as a member of parliament kept him out of jail, where others went for utterances less pacifistic than his. President Wilson was his ideal, his "man of the hour" and "savior of civilization" until the United States entered the war with its war president's approval.

The "big navy" lobby found no artillery in the baggage of the white house guest.

PLANES EVERYWHERE

Everywhere one goes there are airports and wherever there is an airport there is a crowd of interested spectators. Who can still deny that the American people are air-minded? They are flying by the millions, utilizing air transportation facilities and looking forward to the time, probably not so far off, when the Ford of aviation will produce a plane for the masses. The fear of the air is slowly vanishing.

This is not a foolish fear. It is second nature with human nature to fear the new and strange. Railroads, steamships, automobiles, elevators aroused similar fears during the early stages of their development.

Strive as he might to keep a safe distance, the groundling has been the stepchild of fortune every time some new means of transportation has been devised. Railroad companies stole his lands and laid tracks through his house. Locomotives ran over him or set fire to his fields and forests. Then came the automobile to frighten his horse, hog the road and throw dust in his face. Today, it is the craft of the air that menace his peace and safety.

Every new plane that takes to the air increases the threat to the groundling's chimney, roof and garden. He lives in constant dread of a nosedive through the new slate or tile. The airplane goeth wherever it listeth and it generally listeth to go where a tailspin can do its worst.

KONJOLA CALLED "BEST MEDICINE" BY MAN OF 72

Freed of Stomach Trouble After Long and Fruitless Search for Relief

MR. ANDREW LARGE

"Although I am seventy-two years old, my age made no difference to Konjola, for it worked wonders for me," said Mr. Andrew Large, Pomery, Penna. "Day after day I sought a medicine that would relieve me of stomach trouble, but always my search was in vain. Constantly I was in distress from indigestion and constipation. Food failed to digest as it should. Konjola, the best medicine in the world, proved to be just what I needed. Day by day the improvement became more noticeable. My stomach now functions just as Nature intended. I eat whatever I wish without the slightest distress. I am stronger, have more energy and pep. What a medicine Konjola is and what a boon it is to suffering humanity."

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffmann's Cat Rate store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout Bucks County.

THE GOLD DIGGERS

This novel is based on the Warner Bros. Vitaphone Natural Color Picture. Adapted from the play, "The Gold Diggers."

Synopsis: Violet, a chorus girl, and her friend, Wally, end the day of Jerry Lane, a wealthy young man, in getting the consent of Wally's uncle to their marriage. Jerry's uncle, Uncle Steve, mistakes her for Violet, and assumes the role of a scheming woman in order to show him, sufficiently so that he will be happy to let someone else marry his nephew. That person is to be Violet, of course. Steve's lawyer, Jim Blake, suggests that Steve take Jerry out to luncheon to get acquainted with her, and Jerry gets her friend, Mabel, to come along. The gold-digging starts. A week later Jerry discovers that Uncle Steve is not so easily shocked.

Violet wept often on Jerry's shoulder, and Jerry tried to console her by telling her she could expect no results in a week. She must allow a month, at least, for the plot to come to a head. All this had been pure preliminary work. It would all work out well for Wally and her, even if they did have to wait a while to get married. The fortune they would get in the end would be worth waiting for. If she did not think so, then she was a silly child who had much to learn. But Jerry herself was beginning to have her doubts about the efficacy of her plan.

Mabel knew the true situation, but she was optimistic enough to Jerry explained that it was not going to be a party for ten or fifteen couples. She was going to ask the whole show.

He convinced that it was all going to work out all right. In the meantime, she was getting what her all-mother could never have brought her, and what no man for a long time had given her. She was, in fact, beginning to feel once more that her charms were not entirely gone—that it was still possible to ensnare a male without hitting him over the head.

Triumphantly she displayed her spoils to Topsy and Eleanor. Topsy was thrilled, but Eleanor made a wry mouth, and with her best English accent said:

"I never did like fat men, old dear. But of course, if you do, that's your privilege, if you know what I mean."

"He's not so fat anyway," objected Mabel.

"Not quite three hundred. I should say. Ah me, what is this world coming to!"

"I saw you with a fat one last night," Topsy accused her.

"You are probably thinking of someone else. My sheik from Indiana is athletic looking. I agree. He's not—and never was—fat."

"Well, it depends on how you look at him, I suppose," from Topsy.

Mabel giggled, and got up to imitate Eleanor's gliding walk.

"And you, so—particular," she laughed.

When the girls had gone, Mabel went to her closet to examine her new clothes all by herself, and to revel in the stroke of good fortune that had sent her her fat darling. She liked them that way anyway, no matter what the jealous Eleanor said.

CHAPTER V

Another week passed, but conditions remained unchanged. In fact, they seemed further away from a solution than they had in the beginning, and not only Jerry, but Wally and Violet, were frankly worried. Jerry made Uncle Steve keep up a pace that should have discouraged him long ago, but his willingness to do anything she suggested knew no bounds. He never felt tired, and never lost his temper. The wildest party failed to horrify him, just as her wildest request only made him laugh—and acquiesce.

Jerry introduced him to nearly everybody in the show, pretending to be particularly friendly with those who were obviously the least on Thursday. In the early evening Mrs. Etta Twining and Thomas Point set drove her home. Enroute they stopped at the "Three Tons Inn" on the Bethlehem Pike for dinner.

Mrs. Jane O'Brien is suffering with neuritis in her arm and foot.

Charles Doyle, Jr., and Frank O'Brien motored to Mauch Chunk on Wednesday evening to the home of Mr. Doyle's aunt, Mrs. Ralph Horn.

Enroute they stopped at Red Hill to see Edward Powers, formerly of South Langhorne. Mrs. Charles S. Doyle returned home with them after spending some time in Mauch Chunk.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Langhorne Presbyterian Church held its business meeting at the home of Miss Margaret Campbell, of Joyce avenue, here, last Friday evening. After the meeting refreshments were served and a very pleasant social time was enjoyed.

Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Mrs. Edward Hurt and Mrs. Ernest Poyser motored to Haddonfield, N. J., on Thursday where they spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fowler, formerly of South Langhorne.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poyser spent Friday evening in Frankford, where they enjoyed the show at the Roosevelt Theatre.

Frederick Rumpf, Jr., is building a 500 foot chicken house at the back of his property on Woodland avenue. The work is well under way.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poyser entertained Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Hurt Sunday evening.

Ward's Pays Tribute To Genius of Edison

Taking part in the nation-wide celebration of Light's Golden Jubilee on October 21st, honoring Thomas A. Edison, Montgomery Ward & Co. are installing window displays showing the progress of light since the invention of the incandescent electric lamp, fifty years ago, together with the progress of commerce.

Mr. Duerr, manager of Ward's store, said today, "Patrons and friends of Montgomery Ward & Company will enjoy these window displays from an educational point of view. Interesting developments in light and commerce and almost unbelievable changes are compared."

In depicting the advance of light, a replica of the first successful incandescent lamp, made by Edison, will be compared with the last word in modern illumination—the 100-watt lamp.

Besides, there are actual photos of the first house wired for electricity, Edison's own experimental laboratory at Menlo Park, New Jersey. Companion photographs compare Montgomery Ward & Co.'s first catalog with the latest 1929 book. The first mail order house and the first retail store at Marysville, Kansas, which was the nucleus of the largest general merchandise stores group of the world, are compared in pictures with the nine new mail order houses and the modern Bristol store.

INVITE MEN TO MEETING

A social and business meeting of the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Anchor Yacht Club will be held tomorrow evening in the club house and the men members of the club are invited to attend.

HULMEVILLE

The Marquette is sweeping to nationwide success with an array of features that distinguish it at once as the most outstanding value in the moderate-price field:

BUILT BY BUICK—The Marquette alone in its class can offer the priceless advantages of Buick engineering, Buick craftsmanship and countrywide Buick service facilities.

PERFORMANCE—Brilliant pick-up—to 100 miles an hour in 31 seconds—dashing speed—68 or 70 honest miles an hour—and a wonderful fund of smooth, flexible power!

PISTON DISPLACEMENT—The marvelous power plant has a larger piston displacement (212.8 cubic inches) than any car at its price!

ECONOMY—Even with larger piston displacement, this remarkable engine operates in the normal driving range with appreciably lower fuel consumption. Tire mileage is phenomenal. Service needs are at an absolute minimum.

COMPLETENESS—Throughout the Marquette you will find a full complement of the finest features. Nothing but the very best has been good enough!

ROADABILITY—So perfect are its poise and balance that, at every speed, riding qualities and roadability are amazingly superior to those of many cars of much higher price!

UPHOLSTERY—The Marquette alone in the moderate-price class is upholstered with a wonderful new waterproof, dustproof, wear-proof mohair.

ENDURANCE—Buick-built cars are famous for stamina. The Marquette delivers many thousands of miles of brilliant, uninterrupted service over every kind of road.

EXTRA VALUE—Buick's immense resources and great facilities provide in the Marquette extra goodness in every part—extra snap and sparkle in performance—extra value, unapproached at the price.

STYLE—The Marquette is as distinguished in appearance as in performance. Its handsomely tailored bodies by Fisher challenge comparison with the smartest cars on the road!

See the Marquette. Take the wheel and discover performance that knows no rival in the moderate-price field!

Co. Boy Scout Camp Committee Is Entertained

LANGHORNE, Oct. 16.—Chairman Henry Palmer of the Council Camp Committee of the Boy Scout Council had as his guests the members of the committee at the Bucks County Country Club at Langhorne for a very enjoyable steak dinner, followed by the fall meeting of the committee.

A review of the camp season of 1929 was followed by the approval of the 1930 camp period, costs, staff salary, and summary budget. Appreciation was expressed to Carl Wenzel for his having arranged for the taking of a number of aeroplane views of camp during the fifth week of the season.

Scout Executive Livermore expressed the need for additional equipment to take care of the increased registration at camp and that another cub shack, another stockade unit, the erection of a first aid station and the development of a shack troop unit.

Cyrus Smith, of Hulmeville, who has been spending some time in calculating the expense of the badly needed mess hall, submitted the report that its expense would be about $5,000 and that his committee was developing plans whereby some method could be devised to make the building possible. At the present time there are no satisfactory facilities available for troops going to camp for week-ends and through the mess hall, this fall and winter activity would be available to create greater troop morale and add to the prevailing troop spirit.

The finance committee of the Bucks County Council met at the home of Dr. A. J. Strathie, Newtown, last Sunday and had as its speaker J. D. Foster of the Pearce & Hedric Financial Corporation at which time the finances of the Council were thoroughly analyzed and the urgent need for expansion was discussed.

During the present week the Wolf Cub Rocks will be conducted for the awarding of badges and emblems to the Wolf Cubs of which the Council has eight units functioning throughout the county for boys from 9 to 12.

Riegelsville's Street Width Aired in Court

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 16.—Testimony was offered yesterday in the equity proceedings brought by Ernest Albert Rogers and wife, of Riegelsville, against the Borough of Riegelsville, and Dory Godown, chairman of the streets committee of Riegelsville Borough Council and Contractors McInerney and McNeal who are widening the Lackawanna Trail through that borough.

The case is being heard before Judge Hiram H. Keller and officers of Borough Council were called to testify to present the borough's side of the case. The petitioning citizens of Riegelsville, including Valeria S. Clymer and George L. Bidwell and others have asked that a preliminary injunction be granted by Judge Keller on the grounds that the ordinance passed by Council in reference to street construction work is defective.

Curbing and new gutter has been laid along several properties and the citizens opposing the action of Council in widening the highway and making other repairs claim their properties are being damaged.

J. C. Bachman, secretary of Riegelsville Borough Council was called. He produced various ordinances passed by Council and read them to the Court.

The Borough of Riegelsville and the contracting company is represented by Oscar O. Bean and Webster S. Achey, of Doylestown, while the defendants are represented by Thomas Ross, of Doylestown.

THE HOME TOWNERS

BY JOHN LEARY PELTRET
FROM WARNER BROS. "ALL TALKING" VITAPHONE PICTURE
...BASED ON THE COMEDY BY GEORGE M. COHAN...

SYNOPSIS—Arnold asks his chum Bancroft to be best man at his wedding and to bring his wife. Bancroft becomes suspicious of the motives of the fiancée's family and kicks up a row. He is pig-headed and will not recede from the idea.

CHAPTER VI

BEFORE Beth and Wally leave, the latter tells Arnold he will not be at the office that afternoon. Arnold, irritated, tells him he need not come back at all. Wally departs, airily. Mrs. Bancroft tells Arnold how sorry she is that Bancroft was well nicknamed when he was labeled by Arnold "pig-head" and urges Arnold to go to Beth, as she is the one to fix everything.

WHEN Arnold has left Mrs. Bancroft tells her husband that he is certainly at the end of a perfect day and that this will be the last trip she will take with him. She decides she will eat, asks Bancroft what he wants. He says, repeatedly, "nothing." So Mrs. Bancroft goes into the next room to give an order. Bancroft hearing it, opens door and shouts in "ham and eggs."

ARNOLD goes down and finds the Calhoun family at lunch. As the matter in hand cannot be discussed in public he takes them to his apartment when they leave the hotel. He makes a clean breast of the whole thing, hoping it will pour oil on the troubled waters. Nothing doing. The old folks do their best to try and help straighten matters. Beth only says no Bancroft at her wedding.

AS this fails Arnold tries another tack, telling Beth how much it means to have his old pal there. What will the home towners think if his pal P. H. is not best man. This spills a match in the oil being poured on the troubled waters, and Beth blazes up. She says that if the home towners are so important to him he can have them and keep them for all of her.

Funeral Services Tomorrow For the Late Clarence Taylor

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 16.—Funeral service for the late Clarence A. Taylor, who died at the Frankford Hospital on Monday, following an attack of apoplexy, will take place tomorrow from his home, 403 Locust avenue, here, at 2 p. m. Interment will be made in All Saints' Cemetery, Torresdale.

The deceased was the husband of Jean Cook Taylor, and the son of William and Sarah Taylor. Two brothers, Walter, of West Philadelphia, and Harold, of Cornwells Heights, survive.

W. C. T. U. Marks 44th Anniversary With Banquet

she responded to an encore with "I Know a Lovely Garden." Mrs. Halk was accompanied by Mrs. Harry Friedrich, of Langhorne. Mrs. Halk, with Miss Grace Shaver, of Bristol, also pleased with a duet, "Some Glad Day."

The new quarters in the Travel Club Home are especially suitable for meetings of the nature for which they are now being used, and members of the Bristol W. C. T. U., are exceptionally pleased with the building. The banquet room was made more attractive last evening by the bouquets of cut flowers and fern placed upon each table.
